1. The rejections based on 35 USC 112, 102, and 103 have been withdrawn based on the applicant's amendments. However, a double patenting rejection has been added in the present Office action.

Double Patenting

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Omum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970);and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

- 3. Claims 1-2, 5, 9-22, 25, 29-38, 40, and 42-52 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-2, 4, 7-12, 17-27, 29, 32-33, 39-49, and 54-62 of copending Application No. 10/022,761.
- 4. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the copending claims teach all of the limitations of the present claims. Present claim 1 differs from copending claim 1 by the recitation of a fluoropolymer substrate and that the substrate is uncoated by the photoreactive solution on one surface. Copending claim 7 limits the substrate to a fluoropolymer, teaching this limitation. Also, since the claim does not recite coating the photoreactive solution on both sides of the substrate, one skilled in the art would clearly envision a second surface not coated with the photoreactive solution. Copending claim 1 differs from present claim 1 by the presence of a cationic assistant. The present and copending dependent claims parallel each other; thus, it would be obvious to combine any of the dependent claims to arrive at the present invention. Because of the substantial overlapping subject matter of the copending claims, it is the examiner's position that the copending and present claims are not patentably distinct.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

- 5. Claims 3 and 23 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-2, 4, 7-12, 17-27, 29, 32-33, 39-49, and 54-62 of copending Application No. 10/022,761 in view of Murahara et al.
- 6. The copending claims apply as above, teaching inorganic soluble non-volatile salts but failing to mention alkali metal cations or guanidinium salts. Murahara teaches that alkali metal atoms such as Li bond well with the fluorine atoms of fluoroplastics materials, such that fluorine is liberated from a substrate and adhesion is increased (col. 4 lines 6-26). Thus, it would have been prima facie obvious to use alkali metal salts in the copending invention to improve bonding with the fluoropolymer substrates and ultimately improve adhesion of the substrate.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection.
